Summary: The gang meet up on Halloween to go to Ryders party. But when they get there, things start to change and suddenly they are the very monster their costume says they are. And with drama with Ryder, this won't turn out good. BADE, JYDER.

A Halloween Nightmare

A/N: Okay, so this was an idea I had had for a while now. Check it out! Also no Tori-hating, even though it may seem like it at the beginning and in this chapter. Lots of bade fluff, by the way this is when they were not together. By the end of this fan fiction they will be though! Cade and Jori friendship, kind of JadexRyder in a little bit.

Disclaimer: I do not own victorious. If I did I would be rich, and it would star Jade. :) Also I would never have let anyone quit and I would be ruling the earth. Yay.

The gang was meeting up at Jades house for Halloween. First to arrive was Cat.

She wore a cute red and pink witches outfit which stopped just above her knees,since she didn't want to wear black, with spider patterned tights. Pink pumps were on her feet and she has stuck cute little silver cobwebs over them, using the grizzly glue that Jade told her to _always_ use. She had put her hair in pigtails and wore a black witches hat which kept falling over into her eyes, no matter how many times she tried to keep it away from them. She had bright pink lipstick on and pink eye-shadow with lots of mascara. It looked so real.

Next to arrive was Tori. Cat squealed in excitement at her outfit.

Tori wore the coolest costume ever. She was a mummy; she wore white leggings which she had covered in bandages, much like the rest of her outfit. Her hair was piled up on top of her hair, and had sparkling jewels in it, _which looked really pretty_, Cat thought. To top off the look she had black eye-shadow and deep purple lips. She has studded her lips with tiny gold balls, much like the rest of your costume. Tori had decorated her outfit with blue, green, yellow, and gold jewellery which hung of her in tangles. Everything looked so real.

"Tori you look so good! Your a mummy-imagine if our mummies dressed up like that! Do you think that th-"

"Shh Cat. And thanks, you look great as well. Hey, isn't that Andre?" Tori replied, squinting off into the darkness.

"Hey Andre!" Cat yelled, catching the dark skinned boys attention.

Andre walked up to them.

"Hi girls."

Andre was a werewolf. The best one ever. He had stuck brown patches of fur all over him, which made his muscles all the more prominent, however Tori and Cat had to admit that he did look a little bit scary. He had stuck sharp claws onto his nails, having borrowed Cats grizzly glue beforehand that day. He had whipped his hair up into a ponytail at the nape of his neck and was wearing a hair band with furry fake ears on them. They looked so real.

"You look great Andre!" Tori exclaimed.

"Yeah, like a dog! Or a cat! Or a fish!"

The others stared at Cat strangely.

"I think you mean a wolf, Lil' red."

"What's that supposed to mean?!"

"Never mind...isn't that Robbie and Beck?"

Beck walked over to them, closely followed by Robbie. He wore a blood red tie which matched with his jet black suit. His mouth had a stream of blood which was dripping down his chin. He wore a black cape which was lined with red satin inside. Beck wore a blood red cape that billowed behind him as he walked. He opened his mouth as if to speak, revealing his sharp, pearly white teeth which flashed in the moonlight. He also wore black contacts, which turned his eyes into black pools of nothing. It looked so real.

"Hey."

The others greeted Beck as Robbie stepped out from behind him. He wore an all in one skeleton piece. His face had face paint on, highlighting his eyes, which had white contacts in, instead of his glasses. He had slicked his hair back using a ton of hair gel, giving him an unearthly look. The thing was, everything just looked so real.

Cat squealed in excitement at Robbie's outfit, much like she has at Toris.

"Hey, someone go get Jade, it's getting cold and we really should get going." Beck sighed.

"Why don't you?" Tori replied defiantly, as she stuck her tongue out at him.

"Fine then, I'll go get her no-...Woahh."

Jade was standing there, and _my_ did she look amazing.

She wore a blood red corset-_who even wore corsets any more_?- with a short, _very short_, black skater skirt. The corset was decorated with black thorns and when he looked closely he could see little black knives on the bottom of her skirt. _But he wasn't looking closely or anything. No way. What reason would he have to inspect his ex-girlfriend like that?_She wore a black choker with silver, small spikes covering it. Her trusty steel-toed combat boots were on her feet, and her legs lined with black tights. She held a red pitchfork and a blood red tail whipped out from behind her back. Attached to her choker was a blood-red velvet cape, lined with black on the outside, _much like mine,_ Beck thought. But what truly amazed him was her gorgeous face. She wore no foundation, her skin was perfect as it was, but she has on a blood red lipstick that highlighted her lips, as well as blood red contacts. To go with the outfit she conveniently wore her red streaks in her hair and had little drops of blood coming out of the corner of her mouth which had fangs, much like Becks. Red and black eye shadow perfected the look. There was just one more thing. Sat on top of her head were the most delicate devils horns you would ever find, the thing was, Beck thought, they looked so real.

"Jadey! You look amazing!"

The gang was stunned into silence, mouths hanging open in awe.

Jade rolled her eyes.

"I know I look good, stop gawking."

"You look fabulous, girl." Now Andre didn't have a crush on Jade any more, but it was hard to have no feelings for her when she looked like _that_.

Robbie was the same, it was no secret that he liked Cat, except to Cat herself, but Jade really was the picture tonight. Yes, she was still terrifying but that skirt and that corset did what they would to and young teenage boy or man.

With all three boys staring at Jade as though she was the most fabulous thing in the world, Tori feltt a little put out. So clearing her throat, she spoke.

"Come on, let's get going."

Jade descended from her place up on the steps and, pushing past the boys and Tori, stood in front of the group.

"Come on."

Whipping her head round so fast that her hair flew everywhere and surely back into her face, she strode away at a fast pace, her boots clicking against the tarmac. The boys rushed after her adoringly, Andre dragging Tori with them and Cat following along, squealing and happily laughing about the most recent Bade story she had posted. She knew that they would fall for each other again, and guessing by the actions of them, she knew it was going to be tonight.
